"Down with the Dust."-What pranks old mother earth olayed yesterday! How she tore through the streets, and in her mad, frolicsome way, took liberties with crinoline and corduroy! How she lifted hats from the heads of sober old gentlemen, and sent them carumpumpulating in wild chase thereafter! How signs creaked, awnings flapped, and men grumbled at the blinding clouds that threatened to turn one's throat into a sand-bar! Verily, yesterday was the most disagreeable day in Miller's Almanac, and, but for the redeeming shower of the afternoon, deserved to have its · obituary notice written in-dust.

The ordinances bearing on this point require every merchant to have their scales, weights and measures of every description examined and stamped by the proper officers, under a penalty of $100 for each neglect of this duty. This law is generally known, and there are few traders who fail to comply with its provisions. The cases in question were referred to the Board of Market Commissioners, who have charge of the scale house and stamping office, to inquire into the charges pre-

REMOVAL OF THE BUTCHER PENS .- Mayor Cogswell has decided that the butcher pens must be removed to the banks of the Ashley, or be stationed near some creek, where the ebb offal to the river. These butcher pens have been frequently complained of as a nuisance, and the order for their removal from the more thickly settled portions of the city will be gratefully received by those who have heretofore been compelled to endure the infliction.

DEATH OF AN EX-ABMY OFFICER.—Colonel G. W. Cartwright, late of the 28th Massachusetts, died yesterday at the Pavilion Hotel. THE PRESS GANG TAKEN ON THE HALF SHELL.—The quill driving fraternity were last night made the grateful recipients of a handsome treat from "Mine Host," Louis Kenacke. Bivalves were furnished ad libitum, and the members of the press bade dull care begone, and, for once in their lives, confined their attention to such sublunary objects as oysters. They tried them on the half shell, broiled and roasted, and the unanimous verdict, as the last Various of the good things of this life were submitted to the same ordeal, and commendable resolutions passed thereupon. THE OPERA IN CHARLESTON .-- We have been ruined, desolated, and made unhappy in all sorts of ways, yet we still enjoy retribution. We propose to make ourselves as happy as we and flow of the tide will carry the blood and can. Templeton has given us the theatre, brought to Charleston a succession of artistes who have drawn audiences that would have done justice to the old city in her palmiest day, and contributed all he knew how to make us forget the past and remember the enjoyments of the present. Not content with this, he now proposes to give to our people a taste of the opera, and for this purpose has effected an engagement with the famous Grau Troupe, of New York. This company comprises some of the best artists in the United States, and in making their tour they propose to drop their "pearls of song" in this luxurious latitude The prima donna of the company is Mad'lle Secessionville. He was subsequently ordered Marie Frederici, sustained by Mad'lle Clara to Virginia, and was shot through the lungs at Lang. The tenor is Franz Himmer, also an the battle of the Wilderness. We shall advert more fully to the subject hereafter. Meanwhile let our people prepare their greenbacks.

"Those evening bells, those evening bells,

Who in our city does not remember the solemn curfew that "tolled the knell of parting day?" It was the signal for the going to bed of the little ones, for the going to church of their parents, and for the retirement to quarters of those we once knew as "servants." Years have passed, however, since the familiar chimes have been heard, and they linger in memory only among the associations of the past. Looking into our office encyclopædia, we find that the curfew was introduced by William the Conqueror as a signal to citizens "to extinguise their fires." And perpetuated that their ears still long to hear the familiar sounds that recall the hours of childhood, the loving caress and paternal "good night." Hence thousands will be gratified to learn that among the many changes made by Mayor

RODRIGUES

HAS RAPIDLY DISTINGUISHED ITSELF FOR its wonderful restorative and curative qualities. Under its stimulative influence, and by its penetrative agency, this health invigorating cordial excites a general beneficial reaction, and disperses the impermeable obstructions which prevent access to other remedies. While gradually reducing the accompanying constriction which attends the malady, it reproduces the essential warmth and elastic vigor of the respiratory vessels, which, by this remedial combination, promotes the healing process by which relief and cure is effected.

Hemorrhages are arrested and cured, with every other concurrent disorder.

As neither narcotic nor emetic properties of any kind are employed in this Pulmonic Compound, and the most assiduous attention given to the quality and medical value of each component article which constitute it, it is confidently and conscientiously recommended for its safety and reliability, without restriction in generous, wholesome diet, or approhension of renewed cold from its effects.

For sale wholesale and retail by the Proprietress, Mrs. CECILIA RODRIGUES, northwest corner of MEETING AND SOCIETY-STREETS, and at the Druggists.
